

Scott Jones

Senior Vice President, Chief Financial and Administrative Officer, and Treasurer

Scott Jones serves as senior vice president, chief financial and administrative officer, and treasurer at NERC. Mr. Jones joined NERC in December 2014 and currently oversees all finance and accounting, human resources, and facilities functions for the company. A primary responsibility for this role is the development and approval of NERC's annual business plan and budget. Mr. Jones works closely with ERO Enterprise leadership and stakeholders during this process.

Mr. Jones has more than 20 years of experience, predominantly in the energy and utility industries. Prior to joining NERC, he was the senior vice president and chief administrative officer of MEAG Power, a public power joint action agency based in Atlanta, Georgia, with $700 million in revenue and more than $9 billion in assets. During his 14 years at MEAG Power, Mr. Jones held various roles managing accounting, human resources, legislative affairs, and internal audits. Mr. Jones also sat on the board of directors of The Energy Authority, an energy trading and portfolio management organization founded, in part, by MEAG Power.

Mr. Jones began his career as a staff accountant in Knoxville, Tennessee, later working for the accounting firms Coopers & Lybrand and PricewaterhouseCoopers with various clients around the country. His work included audit, transaction, and merger and acquisition engagements across various industries. Mr. Jones took the controller position for Virginia Gas Company, a publicly traded natural gas pipeline and distribution company, before going to MEAG Power. Mr. Jones holds a bachelor's degree and a Master of Accountancy from the University of Tennessee and is a Certified Public Accountant.
